The Jackass Rabbit.

The Clerk of the United States District Court of Utah, having an idle hour on his hands at Beaver City, recently sat down and in a burst of inspiration penned this essay on the well-known hare of the Pacific coast, popularly nicknamed as above on account of his exaggerated ears: I've been over a good deal of that kind of country which grows the jackass rabbit. He is a serious, thoughtful-looking animal anywhere, and in Utah, real solemn. The territory produces a larger, flourishing jackass rabbit, but he wears a countenance like a good many of the Saints, it says: "I wish I hadn't to come." This rabbit is rightly named. He has the gray color, marked with black, the long ears, and the eternal solemnity of the old original edition of the ass, which Noah had the poor policy to preserve.
The most noticeable trait is his disposition to sit down. If any one comes on him suddenly and sees him before he leaps, he is sitting. If seen at a distance still and giving himself up to sweet reverie, he is sitting down. Should he have occasion to rise from his seat and run fifty yards, he is tired at the end of it and

HE SITS DOWN.

The jackass rabbit has sociability, but it is very thin. It is not probable that he would leave a good comfortable seat and go a few feet for the sake of company. Yet occasionally several of them may be seen together when they think no one is watching them. At such times they are quiet and undemonstrative—seem to be having social converse and a sort of tea party. It is the custom for all to take seats at these parties. Now and then some little matter of courtesy will call one to his feet, but when it is attended to he sits down without delay. It makes one feel at peace with the world and kindly toward himself to see a bench-legged fice that thinks he amounts to something—and every bench-legged fice thinks he does—chasing a jackass rabbit up hill; for the rabbit, when once compelled to rise from his seat, recognizes no difference in his speed between up hill and down. One's thoughts are not so much on the race as the emptiness of this: Where there's a will there's a way.

A LONG-EARED METEOR.

I've seen a dignified, sensible dog rush after a rabbit, have his course crossed by a second rabbit, then have the new course crossed by a third rabbit, turn madly after the third, come on the fourth crossing rabbit and quit in disgust. Sometimes a person will jump up a rabbit and think he immediately sees a number of them running, when it is only the gray flashes of the same rabbit passing through the sagebrush vistas.

The increase in the family of jackass rabbits is something overwhelming.
Figures are hardly equal to the occasion. It is something like the increase in the patronage of a place of public amusement when it ceases to charge an admission fee. Some people like jackass rabbits as a dish; but to me in this form he is not pleasing except in a high state of hungriness, when the stomach is no longer guided by reason. There is something touching in the death of the rabbit. The shrieks of a puppy whose tail has been trod on make one almost feel a portion of the pain himself; and the squawks of the hen, rudely torn by the thief from her roost, as they are heard growing gradually weaker, and finally a sympathetic chord; but more pathetic still is

THE WALL OF THE DYING JACK-RABBIT.
So hopeless, so helpless and plaintive it attunes one's every emotion to pity.
Jackass rabbits resembles potatoes in one respect, they are not all the same size. I probably saw the biggest jackass rabbit that ever was. It was my habit in one locality to pass a certain thicket several times a week while bird-hunting. One day I shot at a rabbit on the edge of the thicket; the bird-shot peppered him and he fled in astonishment. On another day, at the same spot, I shot a second, one in the same way. A day or two afterward a third one was shot there, and his gait was so halting that I caught him. He was very much magnified.
I had been shooting the same rabbit for a week. When I arrive at the "beautiful gate," which so often swung open at Sunday school concerts, if there is any one seeming bad act in my whole life which I shall not, in my interview with St. Peter, be able to explain away, it is the shooting of that rabbit for a whole week. I feel weak on that.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The New York Commercial Advertiser says the Nevada Bank is expected to open an office in that city on the 1st of May. The managers have taken a suite of offices on Wall street lately occupied by the Merchants' Bank of California. A heavy business in exchange and gold coin will probably follow this important addition to New York's banking capital.

Look out for Your Trees.

[American Agriculturalist.]

Injuries to trees should be repaired as soon as discovered. Limbs broken by snow and ice must be sawed off smooth, and the wound covered with paint, varnish or wax. Barking by mice often looks more serious than it really is. The majority of cases will recover if the wound is protected by a thick poultice of cow-dung and clayey loam, bound on with a piece of coarse material. In very severe cases the tree may be saved by connecting the bark, above and below the wound by means of twigs of small trees; the ends can be chamfered, and inserted under the bark, above and below, to bridge over the wound, covering the exposed parts with grafting wax.
Something besides the cow-dung and loam plaster should be always in readiness for protecting cut surfaces.
Either thick white-lead paint, tinted by a little amber or other color, grafting wax, melted, but not too hot, or shellac varnish may be used. Grafting wax is made of wax three parts, rosin three parts, tallow two parts. These are to be melted together in an iron vessel, kept for the purpose, at a low temperature as will serve. It may be applied with a brush to wounds.
When used in grafting it is more convenient on cloth. Old cotton, calico or other fabric that will tear readily, is torn into strips, made into rolls, soaked in the hot wax until thoroughly penetrated, drained of the excess of wax, and when cold is ready to use.
To make varnish, place shellac in a wide-mouthed jar, with strong alcohol enough to cover it and set in a warm place until dissolved; or set the bottle in a saucepan of cold water, with some stings to keep it from the bottom, and set it on the stove to gradually heat.
Be cautious of fire. If too thick, add alcohol. Keep the brush in the varnish, with the handle through the cork.

Kearney on Top.

In San Francisco on Saturday last, some six hundred of the leading citizens signed a call for a mass meeting at Platt's Hall, to protest against the acceptance of the Spring Valley Water proposition. The meeting was called by staid citizens who could hardly endorse Kearney and be consistent with their former views. The character of the meeting was well understood, as also the quiet spirit of the men who called it. It was supposed that a conference was to be held among the leading citizens and taxpayers, and that order and argument would prevail. Behold the reality. Dennis Kearney, President of the workingman's party, marched in and up to the stage and was in a few short moments the ruling spirit of the meeting. He was elected Chairman twice, and made three speeches and was apparently the only man who could rule the audience or enforce order.

The account which came to our eye was no doubt exaggerated as to Kearney's influence, but the main fact remains that he stepped upon the stage where San Francisco's journalists, lawyers and Senators were assembled and was recognized as master of the situation. He took to himself the honor that such a meeting could be called. Said that it was called to rebuke thieves in the Legislature, and that it was necessary in order to influence thieves, to surround the Capitol, and dictate, not plead. Now we all know that the masses are prone toward violent beliefs in times of adversity, but in a meeting, such as we describe, it would hardly be expected that such sentiments could be tolerated much less applauded by a majority. Are we then to conclude that those opposed to hemp and Kearney in San Francisco are really in the minority? If so, is there no virtue in the hemp doctrine, or necessity for its promulgation? There can be no doubt that leading citizens of California regard the Legislature as a set of scoundrels. Has Kearney struck the right note in using plain English, and what is the secret of his success?

Platform.

In the Virginia Chronicle of last evening was an extended report of the Workingmen's meeting held in that city. The same arguments that Kearney used were again advanced although in milder form, and seemed to meet with the same favor. Mr. Apponyi, the organizer, was well received and delivered a pointed speech, in which he handled certain newspaper assertions and candidates without gloves. The workingmen seemed to endorse the spirit manifested, and 250 subscribed to the pledge. Following is the wording of that document:

"We, the Workingmen of Storey county, Nevada, pledge ourselves to support only such men for office who will represent us under a workingmen's platform; legislate for the best interests of all classes, and assist in abrogating the Burlingame Treaty."

The platform is milder than we thought and might be endorsed by professional men without doing violence to principle.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.—Dakota raised 7,000,000 bushels wheat last year.

New Hampshire tobacco crop averages 1500 pounds to the acre.

An immense emigration from Alabama and Mississippi is flowing into Texas.

The orange product in Florida for the year 1878 was 17,000 oranges.

Tobacco was such a profitable crop in Wisconsin last year that the farmers intend to go into the business more extensively next season.

Canada exported to Great Britain during the year 1877, 7412 cattle, 6825 sheep, 373 pigs and 298 horses. In 1876 the exportation was, but 4645 cattle and 4218 sheep.

THE PRECIOUS METALS.—An Eastern financial paper says: One ton (2,000) pounds (avoirdupois) of gold or silver contains 29,173 troy ounces, and, therefore, the value of a ton of pure gold is $932,790 51, and a ton of silver $9,704 84.

A cubic foot of gold weighs 1,218.75 pounds avoirdupois; a cubic foot of pure silver weighs 358.23 pounds.

One million dollars gold coin weighs 3,795.5 pounds avoirdupois; one million dollars silver coin weighs 58,329.9 pounds avoirdupois.

If there is 1 per cent of gold or silver in one ton of ore, it contains $91.63 ounces troy, of either of these metals.

The Eastern Treaty.

At last there seems an immediate prospect for a ratification of the proposed treaty between Turkey and Russia. The conflict has been over the demand that Russia shall submit certain questions to the Congress for decision. These questions Russia preferred to settle in her own way, but she has now waived that right and agrees to submit any and all questions as desired. Austria and Germany are satisfied with this, and England has to be. A preliminary congress is to be held, and it is said that Russia will try to provide entire success for her desires through its action. The conference of the powers will be held about April 15th. Some of the conditions of the treaty which was ratified March 7th are thus reported from St. Petersburg:

The treaty leaves a good many points open. It reserves the question of the straits for the Congress, and leaves the southern frontier of Bulgaria to be determined by an International Commission according to the nationality of the inhabitants. The question of the annexation of the port of Kovoia is left to the same Commission, and thus serious difficulties on that point are avoided. Lord Derby will probably receive the treaty next Saturday, as a courier for London will leave on Tuesday. The correspondent explains the new difficulties in regard to the Congress. He says: England demands a formal engagement that all the clauses of the treaty shall be submitted for discussion. Russia holds that such an engagement is quite unnecessary, as the whole treaty will be known before the Congress meets, and the plenipotentiaries may discuss which clauses shall be submitted for consideration. The whole discussion turns rather on diplomatic prestige than on real interests. The feeling is such that some of the members of the official world in St. Petersburg declare that England has decided on war, and is simply conniving to gain time.

Belmont Mines.

Belmont Courier: The mines in this camp and vicinity are improving daily as the work of development goes on. The El Dorado South mine is now producing the richest sulphuretted ores we have seen for many a day. The ore chimney was cut last Fall by a cross-cut run easterly from the long winze or air shaft. Since then the 900 foot and 800 foot levels have been opened a considerable distance, each disclosing the same rich character of antimonial sulphurets of silver.

The Ribo mine, just northeast of the Combination mill, is now attracting much attention from mining operators. Scientific experts, who represent heavy capitalists in San Francisco, are now here making an examination of the property.

The Belmont mine is also making some new developments. By the reports of the Superintendent we learn that they have a fine ledge of rich ore in the north end of their mine.

With the assurance we now have of the starting of one or more of our quartz mills and the prospect of the erection of a smelting furnace, we feel that a lasting prosperity is now dawning upon us, and that the shipments of bullion from Belmont will soon put our mines on a dividend paying basis.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—This week in the Senate will be largely occupied in all probability with a contest over the conflicting propositions reported from the Judiciary Committee and Railroad Committee respectively, providing for the liquidation of the Central and Union Pacific Railroad Co's present and prospective indebtedness to the Government. The general impression is that the compromise sinking fund measure, prepared by the Committee on Railroads, will be adopted as a substitute for the stringent requirements of the Judiciary Committee, but the result of the contest is doubtful, and the vote will probably be close.

The Ways and Means Committee expect to have the Tariff bill completed for report to the House by next Wednesday or Thursday, and to call it for action early the following week. The chances for its passage by the House without numerous material amendments are very slight, and doubts are expressed, even by its friends, whether it will get through the House at all. Very few persons at present expect that the Senate will pass the Tariff bill this session.

Littlefield of the Post turned correspondent the other day in Europe, and said: "The Republicans, almost to a man, favor R. M. Daggett for Governor, Jerry Moore for Lieutenant Governor and Thomas Wren for Congress. The Democrats are well united on Hagerman for Governor, and especially opposed to Bradley, and not especially enthusiastic over Adams for Lieutenant Governor."

The Workingman's Cause.

RENO, March 18, 78

Mr. Editor: It is with considerable surprise that I listen to men holding high and responsible positions, men whose sound judgment has commended itself to our people and so far stood the test of experience successfully, opposing the movement of the laboring classes of the Pacific Coast, and especially of the State of Nevada. The day of the workingman's bondage is fast passing away. For long, long years have they been ground beneath the heel of the usurious task master, who, coining money from their white slaves by paying them starvation prices and working them from early dawn until darkness compelled them to cease, upon quarter, half three-quarter time, or no time, as suited their convenience or pleasure, or employing that cheap and degrading class, the Chinese, at wages that a civilized white man could not support himself, much less a family, destroying the moral purity of our atmosphere and leading our children not only into habits of idleness and dissipation, but destroying by contact those principles of moral rectitude and virtue that alone can cause them to take rank among the good and the pure of our land. This Mongolian blight must be destroyed; it is fast taking possession of every avenue of industry even in our own State, and as the workingmen value their future welfare and that which is dearer than life—their wives and children—I hope they will unite throughout the State, organize thoroughly, and secure that protection they so much require, and with Kearney I say hump for traitors.

I learn that one Chas. E. Apponyi, Esq., the champion organizer of the State of Nevada, has been interviewed by a prominent Reno workingman. Storey county is fully alive to the interest of the Workingmen's party and organized upon such a basis as will insure permanency and success. On the 21st instant an organization will be perfected in Reno, and the first step taken in Washoe county for protection to our working men. Mr. Apponyi will assist, and I hope the workingmen of Reno will respond in a good and proper manner.

A WORKINGMAN.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Course of Lectures.

Last evening a full house greeted Professor Simms at the Academy of Music. The Professor treated his subject, "Physiognomy," in a plain scientific but interesting and satisfactory manner. To give force to his premises and arguments therefrom he used numerous illustrations in hand, as the paintings of many distinguished persons—those noted for crime, benevolence, ignorance, learning, etc. At the conclusion of the lecture several persons stepped upon the stand and had a partial hearing on their faces. The tales they would tell, the inner self reveal. While this portion of the entertainment was but the supplement to the lecture, the more practical to the theoretical and semi-practical which came first, yet the interest which had before been pleasant to speaker and audience, now glowed anew with rekindling vigor. The different noses, eyes, chins, cheeks, foreheads, etc. came under review and their characteristics noted with scientific clearness and interest. One lady was very talkative, deeply in earnest, and of a practical turn of mind; she is independent, loves children, and is affectionate to her husband. The lady smiled, several men looked around to see if their beloved was anywhere sickly, etc. The husbands gave their whiskers a gentle shake and this forenoon carried out the resolutions then formed to have their own countenances passed sentence on in private. A good looking young lady next recited and passed a good examination, but she did not blush when she was told that she liked those children best who were about 25 years of age and of the male persuasion. The Doctor will lecture this evening on "How to Rise in the World."

Wednesday evening—Physiognomy.
Thursday evening—How to Breathe and What to Eat to be Healthy.

Friday evening—The Nervous System and Mind.

Saturday evening—Love, Courtship and Marriage.

Admission 25 cents, Saturday evening 50 cents; tickets for the season one dollar.

The Professor is a talented man and has given much thought and reading and is full of experience on the subjects to which he calls your attention. Like Fowler, Wells, Cambe and others he is not confined to the face alone, although it is his guide and principal study. In the step a Cataline may give his character. He has our person and all our members speak; give him your ear and into that little shell he whispers a volume; of the eye, yourself; of your tongue, much of your further self; eye, even the foot and all that goes to make our outward self—these are the public advertisements of our very selves. Go and know thyself and thy neighbor.

LECTURE TO-NIGHT.—Last night a large audience listened attentively to an entertaining lecture by Dr. Simms at the Academy of music. To-night he will lecture on "How to rise in the world." Admission, 25 cents only. The doctor has traveled over the entire countries of Europe, visited Africa and Asia three times each; he has traveled each State, which extensive traveling aids him in studying all types of faces, and enables him to decipher and depict the various kinds of humanity at a glance. He is the ablest living reader of the human face. The London Times says: "Dr. J. Simms reads character and diseases from faces as though they were books." Each day this week the Academy of Music will be open, free to visitors, that they may see the vast collection of portraits in oil. Daily this week only Dr. Simms describes health and character in the ante-room of the Academy of Music. Now is the time to learn your adaptations and how to render life most serviceable.

The Belleville Times believes that from all accounts Santa Fe is one of the richest districts in the country.

Some of Reno's citizens are interested in the district named and we hope that the Belleville Times may be exactly correct.

This evening the Lyceum should be well attended. The question is one of unique interest, and the debaters for the most part those who have not spoken in this society. The question relates to the Lyceum, therefore enjoy the company of a female escort.

Public School Meeting.

Last evening a number of the resident taxpayers on the south side of the river met in the District Court room to discuss the new school house proposition, and advise what action said south-side taxpayers should take in the premises. Mr. A. J. Hatch was chosen chairman, and W. M. Boardman Secretary. Mr. Hatch stated the objects of the meeting, and argued in favor of the appended resolution. Messrs. Duck and Bell opposed the building of a number of school-houses, and believed that for the number of school children in the Primary Department from the south side, that it was not advisable to erect a school-house at present for their benefit; and, further, that the schools were sufficiently convenient for all children in this district to attend. Messrs. Hatch and Beck argued that, since there were already 46 pupils from the south side in attendance at the Public Schools, and the south-side was rapidly increasing in population, that it was but simple justice that they should have a more convenient school than the one which was in contemplation to be erected north of the track. They further held that the tax to be annually raised for a number of years was in amount sufficient to make it quite improbable that in a year, or even in five years, the people of this district would vote to tax themselves an additional amount to build a school house on that side of the river. Nor did they hold that it was politic to have so many gathered at one place. Again it is scarcely advisable to have little children to cross the bridge, loiter along our public streets, and cross the railroad to school in the northern part of the town. They of the south side only ask for a small part of the $20,000, and believe that no interest would suffer thereby while the south side interests would be greatly conserved. We hold that the arguments of the south-siders are good and should obtain.

The following resolution was then passed and the meeting adjourned.

Resolved, That it is the sense of the residents of Reno residing on the south side of the river: That it would be most convenient to have a part, (say $2,500) of the $20,000 to be raised for the purpose of building a school house on the south side of the river, and a like amount for the north side of the railroad track, and the balance $15,000, to be used in establishing a central graded school for Reno School District.

Coyote Fight.

Jack Johnson, Dick Hymers and Bruno Parish Distinguish Themselves—The Wounded, &c., &c.

A few days since one of our young rancher boys was telling in Hagerman's store how many coyotes were down about his home, and the story under his earnest management assumed huge proportions. Louis Walker, with a view to making game of the story, offered the young farmer one dollar for each coyote which he would bring to town. Yesterday, much to Mr. Walker's surprise, the youth returned with his first delivery and handing over the coyote received his pay and decamped. To-day the question arose as to what should be done with the elephant. A fight was of course the result. The dogs were let in where his coyoteship was confined and it kept them very busy to keep out of that gentleman's way. Finally the poor beast was lead out into the street and Smith's bull dog set after him. The dog was white when the matinee commenced, but before its close had assumed a large number of cardinal red spots. Johnson's dog, Jack, was the coyote's worst enemy and kept up a persistent chewing of his hind leg.

The fight now raged all along the line. Yaller Dick Hymers and every other unoccupied dog in town came and fell over that coyote, until at last the beast, having ceased to fight, a member of the Prevention of Cruelty Society, kindly stepped on his head and the spirit fled. The entertainment was entirely original and drew a large and fashionable audience. The corpse was hitched to a passing hay wagon and slid out of town with every dog in hot pursuit. We hope that this kind of amusement may be encouraged, as it is truly refining, and has great moral effect on coyotes.

LATER—A stray dog bounded the remains at Hymers' and now nothing remains but the ears and tail. P. S.—Walker has countermanded his order for coyotes.

SOUT-SOCIAL.—The Methodist social to-morrow evening will be worth attending. Admission and a plate of oyster soup, 25 cents. This inducement has not been equaled by any church in any town on the coast. Those who will remain at home when the Lord's people so feelingly reach out after you if happily they may find you either are fearfully prejudiced against the church or are totally opposed to church oyster soup. We understand that there will be more than one oyster in each plate. Sinner come and let us go to the Methodist church to-morrow evening, and indulge in soup and sociability. The preacher is now out of town, and Bro. Fitch is hard of hearing. As one of the Methodist hymns goes "Oh, won't we have a jolly time, and all take"—soup.

OUR MINERAL CABINET.—We have a small cabinet case, but our lot of specimens from the various mines of this county is far too small. Kind reader, should you have an extra specimen, or if you have a mine will you favor us with a sample of ore, etc. We shall at all events be gratified to show to strangers who may honor us with a visit, the character of rock and ore in the different mining districts of this county.

The butchers at the meat shipping slaughter house kill beef by the Hebert method, that is, haul a bullock up by his hind legs and then cut his throat and let the life current ebb away. By this means the blood is mostly taken from the meat and it ships in better condition. The Association are now shipping from 3 to 4 carloads per week. The Journal says ten carloads, better authority say less.

No. 2.—A notice was published this morning calling upon members of Washoe No. 2 to come out this afternoon and practice. There were four members responded to the request, and those who did attend in good faith were exceedingly disgusted theat. We think the disgust was entirely justified by the circumstances of the case, and heard three of the four declare that they had come out for the last time. If property owners do not come out there will be very little interest taken by the firemen.

To-morrow the case of the fish hawkers comes up in the Justices Court. There are three parties as defendants. The name of one Jas. Carson, we have already given, the others you will learn to-morrow.

How about Croquet. These lovely afternoons what is more refreshing than a game of croquet with a genial party of ladies and gentlemen, but no objection if there be but one lady.

CARD OF THANKS.

We, the undersigned, wish to tender our thanks to Mr. J. A. Brunsey, State Agent and Mr. James H. Marshall, City Agent of the Home Mutual Fire Insurance Company of San Francisco, for the highly satisfactory and unprecedented manner in which the representatives of the above named Company have settled the portion of the loss which was sustained at the late fire on Frisbie's corner. We take great pleasure in recommending the Home Mutual Insurance Company to the insuring public for honest, square, and high-toned dealing.

—[Carson Appeal, Jan. 26, 1878.]

The Power of Ridicule.

We think we have observed that the power of resistance to ridicule depends, not so much upon strength of intellect or character, though the latter is a grand ally, as upon experience. The young are moved by ridicule, not the old; the recluse, not the man of affairs. It is very difficult to make a man feel ridiculous when he knows he is right, and very easy when he knows nothing about the matter. You cannot move an old lawyer by ridiculing him about a conveyance, even if he is wrong, and knows he is wrong; but you can make him feel very embarrassed, or even do very silly things, by ridiculing him about his neglect or misreading of an etiquette which he did not know. A certain ignorance is required to give bitter ridicule its full effect; perfect knowledge, or even unusual knowledge, acting as an armor so impregnable, that the man who possesses it will stand unmoved before any amount of sneering crowds. So will the man who thinks he possesses it; which is one at least of the reasons why ridicule is so lost upon fanatics, except in the way of making them angry. But taunting, used as a weapon, exercises a different effect from either of these. Its object is not to destroy a man's self-confidence, but to rouse him by rousing his pride; not to overcome his judgment but to give preponderance to one part of the judgment that is in him. The man who taunts—appeals, in fact, to an idea or a feeling already in his victim's mind, but in his judgment not sufficiently strong. It is of no use, for example, to taunt a man into doing a viable impossibility, to taunt Holland, for example, into declaring war with France. You may make him angry, but it is with you, not with the enemy he cannot resist. Nor is it of any use to taunt a man with not showing valor when he liberally thinks he ought to show meekness. There is no latent feeling to excite, and he simply despises or frets over his assailant's incapacity to understand the situation. It is when the victim at heart agrees with his tormentor, but is to slugging or too cowardly to act on his opinion, that taunts really tell, for then they may change, or as it were, heat up a mere opinion of the intellect into an opinion strong enough to move the will which produces action. Ridicule is a solvent; but taunting, when successful, only develops. A lad at school can taunt another into a fight which he thinks in his heart he ought to wage, but he cannot taunt him into throwing the inkstand at the master's head. Nothing in him responds to the provocation, and he only smiles in derision, or tells his adversary to do it himself. If this is true, as we believe it to be, the effect of taunting in politics is limited. It may make an existing party act, but it cannot add greatly to the number of that party.—The Spectator.
